

HAMED ALAMATI (IRAN)

E-Mail: fallah.ru@gmail.com

Hamed Alamedi, the CEO of KANOON, has a doctorate in sociology majoring in economics and development, has been a lecturer at Sourah University in Tehran and a lecturer at training courses for educational instructors in the country, and before that he held responsibilities such as the parliamentary deputy of the Islamic Propaganda Organization, adviser and assistant to the vice president of the Islamic Council, and the secretary general of the Union of Islamic Students' Associations, alternate member of the Tehran Islamic Council and has been the head of the Central Council of the Union of Islamic Students' Associations of Iran.

Also, in the field of education, he has records such as member of the Board of Trustees of Sadra Islamic Education and Science Schools, a member of the Council of Student Organizations of Iran and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Student Organizations, in his portfolio.